Good Fire?
Managing Ecological Fire in the Age of Climate Change

October 19, 2021
12:30-1:45 PM

Climate change is accelerating, worsening catastrophic wildfire across the American West. Yet wildfire has also sustained California’s landscapes for thousands of years and maintained ecological balance. How do we limit dangerous wildfire threats while reintroducing good fire across California? What can we learn from tribal communities who have used this practice for thousands of years? Do some wildfires we now experience actually reduce catastrophic wildfire risks? Join us to discuss how we can use “good” fire to protect our communities and restore the health of our environment.
