

Anonymous Attendee 10:35 AM

reduced water sales, more and more employees... more costs per unit. Perhaps moving the older employees out of the way and do not corrupt the new employees with old thinking. Baldrich and other initiatives are 25 year old management concepts...

Answer live

Type answer

Anonymous Attendee 10:50 AM

Their vision seems reactive, driving by looking backward. How does this fit Com. Curtin's comments. What is the future we are planning for?

Answer live

Type answer

Anonymous Attendee 10:56 AM

If water is a human right, (new concept). Shoud investing in the backbone of State Project be funded in the old manner... it seems a change in paradigm happened, but the systems have not seen it. Benefactor pays is not consistent with the Human Right. The management and funding must have a transision plan not projecting old tools into the future.

Answer live

Type answer